HARRISON DESIGN ASSOCIATES LAUNCHES
WASHINGTON DC OFFICE

Washington, DC – Harrison Design Associates, an internationally-renowned architecture and design firm, is pleased to announce the opening of their Washington, DC office located at 5125 MacArthur Boulevard, Suite 31, Washington, DC 20016.

For the past ten years, Harrison Design Associates has been creating luxurious custom homes for clients in Washington and Virginia's most exclusive communities. In 2005, the firm received national attention when they designed the highly acclaimed 'Old Dominion Show House' in McLean, Virginia for Southern Accents magazine. The Dutch Colonial farmhouse, homage to the region's earliest settlers, showcased the firm's ability to reflect the essence of an historic community in a fresh, updated way. "Prior to 2005, we were primarily designing homes for existing clients moving to the DC area. The show house offered an opportunity to introduce our firm to a much broader local audience, and since that time, we've been working steadily with clients throughout the Mid-Atlantic. With the volume of work we have underway, it just seemed like the right time to establish a more substantial presence in the area." says Principal, Gregory Palmer, AIA.

"Washington is an exciting place because it is an ever evolving landscape of people and ideas. It is a place with an eye toward the future that is firmly rooted in tradition. This is true of its people and its architecture," states Bulent Baydar, director of the firm's Washington office.

Since its founding in 1991, award-winning Harrison Design Associates has been dedicated to creating high-end, custom residences, town homes and specialty commercial projects that are inspired by the best of classical and modern architecture.
